The winner of the Egg Art/Coloring Contest will receive the Golden Egg for the most creative entry.

What's inside the Golden Egg will be a delightful surprise!

I hope these ideas inspire you to create some amazing farm portrait eggs for the contest! 🐮 🐏 🎨 🥚

Barnyard Scene: Paint a classic red barn with a few farm animals like cows, goats, chickens, and pigs around it. Add some green grass and a blue sky to complete the scene.

Animal Portraits: Focus on detailed portraits of individual farm animals. You could paint a series of eggs, each featuring a different animal like a cow, goat, sheep, or horse.

Farm Landscape: Create a panoramic farm landscape across multiple eggs. Each egg could depict a different part of the farm, such as fields, a farmhouse, a pond, and a barn.

Vintage Farm Signs: Paint eggs to look like vintage farm signs. Use rustic colors and fonts to create signs that say things like “Farm Fresh Eggs,” “Dairy Farm,” or “Goat Milk.”

Farm Life: Illustrate scenes of daily farm life, such as milking cows, feeding chickens, or harvesting crops. These can be simple yet charming depictions of farm activities.

Farm Animal Families: Paint eggs featuring farm animal families, like a mother hen with her chicks, a cow with her calf, or a goat with her kids. This can add a heartwarming touch to your artwork.

Seasonal Farm: Depict the farm in different seasons. You could have one egg showing a springtime scene with blooming flowers, another with a summer harvest, an autumn egg with falling leaves, and a winter egg with snow-covered barns.

Farm Tools and Equipment: Paint eggs with images of traditional farm tools and equipment, such as tractors, plows, pitchforks, and watering cans. This can give a rustic and authentic feel to your collection.

Farm Produce: Showcase the bounty of the farm by painting eggs with images of fresh produce like corn, pumpkins, apples, and carrots. This can highlight the farm-to-table theme.

Whimsical Farm: Add a touch of whimsy by painting farm animals in fun and unexpected ways, like a cow wearing sunglasses, a goat with a flower crown, or chickens having a tea party.

We highly recommend that all eggs must be blown out, as they will be sitting for 11 days during the Fair.

Drained (Blown Out) Eggs

Lightweight: Easier for children to handle and decorate.

Long-Lasting: They won't spoil, so the decorated eggs can be kept as keepsakes.

Less Messy: If an egg accidentally breaks, there's no risk of a messy spill.

Here is what to do to drain eggs

Wash the Egg: Clean the egg with soap and water.

Poke Holes: Use a pin or needle to poke a small hole at each end of the egg.

Blow Out the Contents: Hold the egg over a bowl and blow through one hole to expel the contents through the other hole.

Rinse and Dry: Rinse the inside of the egg with water and let it dry completely.

Hard-Boiled Eggs

Sturdier: Less fragile and easier for younger children to handle.

Temporary: Suitable for short-term displays, but they will eventually spoil.

Did you hear? Winner, Winner, Chicken Dinner! 🐔 🥘 A $100.00 prize will be awarded to the participant who showcases Best Overall.
